AAERT Elects Randel Raison President

Indianapolis, Indiana, June 29, 2009 - The American Association of Electronic Reporters and Transcribers, at its annual conference in Indianapolis, Indiana, elected Randel Raison, 47, of Houston, as its seventh President.

In 2007, Randel was selected as AAERT's "Transcriber of the Year." In 2008, he was elected to the AAERT Board of Directors. Randel is president of All Professionals Litigation Support Team, Inc. (www.APLST.com), headquartered in Houston, which provides digital transcription services to district/municipal courts and other government and private entities worldwide. His term as president is effective immediately.

The American Association of Electronic Reporters and Transcribers, formed in 1994, is a nonprofit mutual benefit corporation organized to provide education and certification for professionals engaged in electronic and digital court reporting, transcribing, and supportive employment roles, and to promote public awareness and acceptance of the electronic/digital court reporting industry. The AAERT is based in Wilmington, Delaware.
